Notice of amended assessment – year ended 30 June 2018 (cont.) – detailed information

Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 and Income Tax Assessment Act 1997

This section details amounts listed on the front page of this notice:

Description	Debits $	Credits $
Non-refundable tax offsets total of $2,065.93:
Excess concessional contributions tax offset		1,602.95
ETP, unused leave or super lump sum tax offset		462.98
Pay as you go (PAYG) credits and other entitlements total of $19,406.00:
PAYG withholding (eg tax deducted by your employer or bank)		19,406.00

Other information relevant to your assessment:

The Commissioner rounds down certain small amounts that may be owed by you or may be refunded to you. You may have transactions on your account where this has occurred.

Excess concessional contributions of $10,686.39 have been included in your assessable income which forms part of your taxable income. A non-refundable tax offset equal to 15% of your excess concessional contributions has been applied. This is to account for tax payable by your superannuation provider in respect of the excess concessional contributions. An excess concessional contributions charge of $170.93 has also been applied. This charge amount does not form part of this notice of assessment and is shown as a separate amount due and payable on your statement of account. Please refer to the enclosed documents regarding excess concessional contributions for further information.

Shortfall interest charge notified has already been reduced by $32.29 because of your particular circumstances.

Shortfall interest charge has been calculated for the following period(s) for which you received a benefit for the item(s) adjusted in this assessment.

Shortfall amount	Period start date	Period end date
$2,254.65	23 Apr 19	08 Aug 19

Shortfall interest charge has been calculated and imposed on your account. However, that amount has been reduced to nil because of your particular circumstances.

You made excess concessional (before tax) super contributions in 2017-18

Dear MS HOHNEN

There is a cap on the amount of concessional (before tax) contributions you can make to your super each financial year without having to pay extra tax.

In the 2017-18 financial year, you have contributed more than the cap. This excess amount has been added to your income and we have updated your income tax notice of assessment. An excess concessional contributions charge has been applied as shown in the determination below.

Your determination

Your concessional contributions cap	$25,000.00
Your concessional contributions	$35,686.39
Your excess concessional contributions	$10,686.39
Your excess concessional contributions charge	$170.93
Period for which your charge was calculated	1 July 2017 to 22 April 2019

What you need to do

You must complete the following three steps:

- Step 1 Pay your excess concessional contributions charge of $170.93 by 2 September 2019 using the payment methods on your statement of account.
- Step 2 Pay any income tax you owe by the due date as shown on your notice of assessment.
- Step 3 Choose one of the following options for your excess concessional contributions by 8 October 2019.

Option 1 – Do nothing and leave the excess in your super fund(s)

The excess amount will count towards your non-concessional (after tax) contributions, which also has an annual cap.

Option 2 – Release the excess from your super fund(s)

Release up to $9,083.43 from your super fund(s) (your excess less 15% tax paid by the fund). Any amount you release will be increased by the 15% tax paid by the fund and will no longer count towards your non-concessional (after tax) contributions.

To release money from your super fund(s) log into myGov and complete the Excess concessional contributions election form by 8 October 2019.

When you complete the election form we will ask your nominated super fund(s) to release the amount you nominated and send the money to us. We will use the money to pay any tax or Australian government debts and refund any remaining balance to you.

If you are not already registered, go to www.ato.gov.au/online services to register. Alternatively you can download the form via our website www.ato.gov.au/eccelectionform or order the form via our website www.ato.gov.au/onlineordering and send it to us.

Excess concessional contributions Election form

Complete this form if you wish to release excess concessional contributions from your superannuation fund. It can also be used where an unsuccessful release has previously occurred and you want to choose a different fund/account. Please note:

- when completing the form, all fields are mandatory
- you are able to choose more than one superannuation fund
- the amount released will be used to pay any income tax liability you have and offset any outstanding tax or other Australian Government agency debts. The remaining amounts will be credited to you
- this election is irrevocable.

Dear Alys

Re: Excess Concessional Contributions Tax – 2018 year Assessment

We have received the attached notice from the Australian Taxation Office advising that they have amended your 2018 Income Tax Notice of Assessment. The reason for the amended assessment is due to excess concessional superannuation contributions made on your behalf during the 2018 financial year.

According to the Australian Taxation Office information your superannuation fund received a total of $35,686.39 in concessional contributions. Your contributions cap for the 2018 year was $25,000. Therefore the excess amount of $10,686.39 has been added to your taxable income, which results in an additional amount of tax payable of $2,083.72. In addition to this amount you have also incurred the excess concessional contributions charge of $170.93.

You will need to arrange payment of $2,083.72 + $170.93 = $2,254.65 using the enclosed payment slip by 2 September 2019.

Also enclosed is an Election Form which gives you the option to have the excess contributions released from your superannuation fund. You are able to release up to $9,083.43 from your superannuation fund if you choose to do so. If you would like to elect to have the funds released from your super, could you please complete the enclosed Excess Concessional Contributions Election Form and return it to our office at your earliest convenience.

If you have any queries regarding any of the above or would like to discuss it further please contact our office.

Yours faithfully

John P. Clarke
