Reading your Water Meter

Pictured at on the right is an image of a typical water meter face. Your water meter is usually located at the front of your property near a side boundary. The meter is divided into kilolitres (thousands of litres) and litres.

On the top of your water meter is a panel containing a series of digits. The black digits represent the kilolitres of water passing through your meter.

Council records the kilolitre reading only.

To work out how many kilolitres of water you consume for a period, you only need to read the black digits on your meter (kilolitres). Record the meter reading at the start of a period. Subtract this start reading from the reading that you take at the end of the period. This is how many kilolitres you have consumed in this period.

Council has developed a Water Usage Calculator. This useful tool will help determine average litres used per person per day within your household. The Water Usage Calculator can be found at gladstone.qld.gov.au/water-usage-calculator.

Council recommends that you regularly monitor your meter reading to avoid costly leaks.

The above dial reading indicates that 989,922 litres have passed through your meter (989,922 litres = 989.922 kilolitres).

If you need help reading your water meter, or it looks different to the image above, please contact Council for assistance.
