Your personalised rate of return	1.60%

Your personalised rate of return is the rate of return on your investments over the reporting period, that takes into account the performance of your investment options, your transaction history, fees, and earnings tax. It's calculated using Internal Rate of Return methodology. The calculation includes the effects from all cash inflows and outflows on the account and can result in a different figure to Time Weighted Rate of Return calculation shown online.

In calculating your withdrawal benefit we have allowed a notional amount for tax. This is an estimate. It's shown as tax provision in your statement and remains invested in your account until the tax is required to be paid or refunded.

Superannuation is a long-term investment, and different asset classes perform differently over time. Based on your personal circumstances, you should consider if your investment options provide you with a diversified portfolio. Diversification is where you spread your investments across different asset classes, leaving you less exposed to a single economic event impacting a particular asset class only. During a low interest rate environment, holding a large allocation to cash could mean your returns are below inflation.

Your opening account balance on this statement may differ to the closing account balance of your previous statement. This may be due to receiving updated investment prices from fund managers, or transactions that have settled, after the previous statement was issued.

Contributions, earnings and expenses

Your net investment earnings figure is the investment return on your assets after taking into consideration payment of costs, taxes and other charges relating to the management of investment of your assets. It does not include other types of costs, taxes and charges such as establishment fees, advice fees, insurance premiums or contribution taxes. As a result, this figure may not equal total income less total expenses plus (or minus) total market movement.

Income is reported on an accrual basis and may vary from the amount paid into the Transaction account.

This statement does not provide the gain or loss on disposal for tax purposes and should not be relied upon in making decisions about your tax position. You should seek professional advice regarding your tax position.

'Other tax' can include any PAYG, year end or year to date tax applicable to your account (such as tax on contributions and earnings) during the reporting period.
