ASSESSMENT CONSIDERATIONS

BASIS OF ASSESSMENT

Market Rent Review Provisions within the Lease	Section 3.3 of the lease outlines the market review procedure for grant of option.
	Section 3.3 (a) states "The rent shall be reviewed based on the current market rent, at each Market Review Date in item 4. In the period from ninety (90) days before to ninety (90) days after each Market Review Date, the Landlord will give a notice to the Tenant setting out the reviewed rent. Any delay in giving the notice will not affect the right of the Landlord to review the rent."
	Section 3.3 (b) states "The reviewed rent is due and payable from the Market Review Date. Until the Landlord gives the Tenant notice under clause 3.3 (a), the Tenant must pay the Landlord the old rent, and any adjustments are calculated from the Market Review Date."
	Section 3.3 (c) states "If the Tenant disputes the reviewed rent, and the dispute cannot be resolved by negotiation between the Landlord and the Tenant, then the procedure in Clause 3.4 must be followed."
	Section 3.3 (d) states "If the Tenant does not give the Landlord a notice under Clause 3.4 within the time referred to in that clause, then it is deemed that the Tenant accepts the reviewed rent."
	Section 3.3 (e) states "The reviewed rent will not be less than the previous year's rent."
Definition of Market Rent	The lease does not stipulate the matters to be considered by the valuer under a market review process.
	The following definition of Market Rent is endorsed by the International Valuation Standards Council and the Australian Property Institute: "The estimated amount for which an interest in real property should be leased on the valuation date between a willing lessor and a willing lessee on appropriate lease terms in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing and where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion."

MARKET EVIDENCE

Rental Evidence

The commercial property market across the greater Gold Coast region has generally been strong over the past few years, with one of the main catalysts being the sustained low interest rate environment. There are currently many factors at play in the market including historically low interest rates, significant government stimulus targeting certain sectors of the economy (including property market), along with rising unemployment levels, reduced local/international migration and a heightened level of economic uncertainty.

Notwithstanding these factors, the industrial market has been quite resilient to date demonstrating continued transaction activity, however at this stage, the full impact of the economic fallout due to the pandemic, and its flow on effect to the property market over the short/medium term, cannot be known.

Vacancy levels in this industrial area are low. Should the property be offered for lease, we would expect a leasing up period in the order of 6 months, with minimal rental incentives in the current market. However, the evolving situation regarding Coronavirus (COVID-19) has potential to reduce tenant demand whereby extended letting up periods may be experienced across the board.

Rental levels for industrial floor space have remained fairly static over the past few years, however, of recent there has been a lack of supply of available properties for lease as the owner occupier market has intensified; therefore, rents have since started to increase. Although, smaller tenancies have witnessed a higher absorption rate in recent times, whilst larger tenancies are still facing extended lease up periods if not priced to meet the market.

Rental rates for good quality light industrial premises would generally be expected to range between $160 and $200 per square metre per annum gross depending upon size, quality and content, together with location, access and exposure attributes, and the extent of natural lighting.

Tabled below is a summary of the most relevant rental evidence that we have reviewed, analysed and compared to the subject.

Rental Conclusion

The evidence presented ranges from $161 to $204 per square metre gross.

The rental at the upper end of this range is Rental 3 reflecting a gross rental rate of $204 per square metre, which is considered to be a strong result, likely attributed to the lack of stock available and being a brand new complex.

Rental 1 is considered to be the most comparable being located within the subject complex reflecting a gross rental rate of $161 per square metre. Whilst being a street front unit, Lot 10 fronts a side street, cul-de-sac featuring slightly inferior exposure attributes. It reflects an apportioned warehouse / office rate of $149 / $223 per square metre.

Rentals 2 reflecting gross rental rates of between $183 to $193 per square metre featuring similar building improvements, albeit a brand new construction, smaller lettable areas and inferior internal positions with inferior exposure attributes. They reflect apportioned warehouse / office rates of $175 / $262, $175 / $262 and $165 / $248 per square metre, respectively.

Based on the analysis, we consider that the market rental for the subject property components would fall within a range of $180 to $200 per square metre gross per annum.

We have conducted further analysis to refine the range based on the following parameters:

- $160 to $170 per square metre per annum gross for warehouse accommodation;
- $240 to $255 per square metre per annum gross for office accommodation.
