Disclosure

the law requires the Insured to tell CGU everything the Insured knows (or could reasonably be expected to know in the circumstances) which is relevant to CGU's decision to provide insurance for the Insured. This duty applies before entering into a contract with CGU and also before each renewal or variation of the policy.

The Insured does not need to tell CGU anything which: reduces the risk; is common knowledge; CGU already knows, or ought to know in the ordinary course of business; or CGU indicates that it does not want to know. After the policy is entered into, ongoing disclosure obligations can apply.

If the Insured does not comply with their duty of disclosure, CGU may reduce or refuse to pay claim and/or cancel the policy. CGU may also invalidate the policy from its inception if the non-disclosure was fraudulent.

Dispute Resolution

If the Insured has any complaints about the products or services provided to the Insured, please contact 360 Commercial and tell us about the complaint. 360 Commercial has a complaints and internal dispute resolution process to try and resolve them as quickly as possible. If this does not resolve the matter or the Insured is not satisfied with the way a complaint has been dealt with, the Insured has the right to refer the matter to 360 Commercial's external disputes resolution service. 360 Commercial will provide information about this service including contact information when the Insured lodges a complaint with 360 Commercial or at any time upon the Insured's request.

Privacy

360 Commercial and CGU are committed to protecting the Insured's privacy in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and the Australian Privacy Principles, which will ensure the privacy and security of the Insured's personal information. 360 Commercial and CGU Privacy Policy explain how 360 Commercial and CGU collects, uses, discloses and handles the Insured's personal information as well as the Insured's rights to access and correct personal information and make a complaint for any breach of the Australian Privacy Principles.
