Fee Disclosure Statement

Every year, we are required to disclose the ongoing fees received for the previous year to 23 October 2023, and outline the proposed fees for the upcoming 12 month period starting from 24 October 2023.

This document - the "Fee Disclosure Statement" - will be issued to you once a year and contains:

- records of the fees paid by you to us, services you were entitled to, and services you received during the previous 12 months;
- estimated fees and services you will be entitled to during the upcoming 12 months, should you choose to renew your agreement with us.

In addition, we are required by legislation to receive written confirmation from you that you would like to renew the terms of our agreement to provide ongoing financial services.

How can you renew our agreement?

In order to renew our agreement, you need to respond within 120 days of your Anniversary Date (24 October 2023). As such you must renew the arrangement, in writing, by 20 February 2024. Your written confirmation can be provided via email or by completing and returning the attached Authority to Renew.

What happens if you don't renew?

If we haven't heard from you by 20 February 2024, then we are required to assume that you do not wish to continue to receive our ongoing advice services. If that is the case, we will no longer provide any advice to you, nor charge any ongoing fees, and we will no longer be responsible for, or have any legal obligations around, the currency of the advice already provided and your future financial affairs.

If, at a later date, you decided to re-engage our services, there may be significant costs involved in updating your personal and financial information and constructing new advice.

Kind regards,

Troy Mojsoski
