About your statement

How interest is calculated

A daily crediting rate is set for each investment option based on its investment performance (after allowing for investment management fees and tax on earnings). Investment earnings are then credited (or debited) on the date you closed your account, at the daily rate on the balance invested in each option. If you switch investment options, investment earnings will be credited (or debited) at the daily rate to the balance of that investment on the date of the switch.

For the Member Direct investment option, earnings are calculated after taking into account income (actual and accrued) on the cash account, term deposits and interest bearing securities; dividends, distributions and franking credits in relation to securities; withholding tax (actual and accrued) and market and other non-cash movements.

Tax deductions

When AustralianSuper has claimed a tax deduction, you may have benefited as follows:

- Insurance costs are claimed as a deduction against your contributions before contributions tax is calculated and charged individually to your account; and
- Investment-related costs are claimed as a deduction against taxable investment income for the whole fund, before net earnings are calculated and credited to your account.
- The adviser service fee shown (if any) is deducted after the savings from reduced input tax credits are taken into account. This means that the adviser service fee deducted from your account is less than the full fee that is paid to the financial adviser.

Contributions to your account

Under Superannuation Guarantee (SG) laws, your employer must pay at least 9.5% of your salary (calculated on ordinary time earnings) into super. You can also make extra contributions to your account, from either your before-tax or after-tax salary.

Contributions made from your after-tax salary generally won't be taxed again, either when paid into your super account or withdrawn on retirement. Contributions made from your before-tax salary (salary sacrifice contributions) are usually subject to 15% contributions tax.

Access to your super

Unrestricted non-preserved super is available now.

Restricted non-preserved super is available when you change employers.

Preserved super is not available until you permanently retire from the workforce on or after reaching your preservation age. If you were born after 30 June 1964, your preservation age is 60. If you were born before this date, your preservation age would range from 55 to 60, depending on your date of birth.

Your insurance cover

Payment of any insured benefit is subject to insurance being in force at the date of the event and also assumes that you meet the insurer's terms and conditions and any health evidence requirements. The insured benefit payable will be calculated at the date of the event (for a Total & Permanent Disablement Benefit (TPD) this is generally the date you last attended work) and may differ from the amount shown on the front page which has been calculated at 19 February 2021.
