Your Portfolio Summary

KEY ECONOMIC & MARKET EVENTS FOR THIS PERIOD

World The global economy is now rapidly recovering from last year's severe recession caused by efforts to contain the spread of the Covid-19 coronavirus, which saw governments close down significant sectors of their economies. With massive stimulus programs put in place by central banks and governments to sustain economic activity, global growth is forecast by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to be a strong 6% this year.	Intl Eq Global equities markets have experienced high volatility since the onset of the pandemic but have been on an upwards trend since late March 2020 due to huge monetary and fiscal stimulus programs, as well as a more positive outlook flowing from widespread vaccination of adult populations. Share market valuations have become elevated but in broad terms the sector still looks more attractive than bonds or cash.
US The US economy was hit hard last year by the sudden emergence of the pandemic and by government efforts to restrain its spread. However, the economy has staged a 'V'-shaped rebound since then, except for a 'second wave' of the virus late last year. Since then economic activity has been lifted by ongoing stimulus programs, aided by a highly successful vaccination program that began in December last year.	US Eq The broad US market (S&P500 index) has continued its upwards trend since suffering a severe setback early last year in response to the pandemic. Over the whole of 2020, the market rose 16% and over the 12 months to 30 June 2021 it rose 39%. The market could rise further if robust stimulus measures remain in place.
Europe European countries have been slower to bounce back from pandemic-induced lockdowns but are forecast to return to pre-pandemic levels of output in 2022. The Euro region as a whole is forecast by the IMF to grow by 4.4% this year and 3.8% next year, while the UK is forecast to grow even more strongly (by 5.3% this year and 5.1% in 2022).	Aust Eq The Australian share market took a knock early last year but has since trended upwards. Over the full 2020-21 financial year the market rose 24%. Although share market valuations appear elevated and recent lockdowns could slow growth, further market appreciation could occur this year if economic recovery is sustained.
Asia Japan experienced severe recession in early 2020, before staging a solid rebound late last year. Japan is forecast by the IMF to grow by over 3% this year. China, the original source of the pandemic, has rebounded faster than other economies and actually grew by over 2% in 2020, with growth of over 8% forecast for this year, while India is forecast to grow by an even more impressive 12%.	Bonds Bond markets in the major economies have looked expensive for some time, with bond yields (interest rates) near historic lows. Due to the worldwide coronavirus pandemic, sovereign bond yields have been pushed to record lows by central banks trying to sustain economic activity. Overall, most bond markets continue to look expensive.
Aust Australia has also been severely affected by the spread of the pandemic and experienced a full-blown recession through the first half of last year. While it has been relatively successful in combating the disease, sporadic lockdowns have continued. Recovery though is well underway, with prices for major export items holding up well.	Cash Cash returns for domestic investors have been historically low for some time. Domestic interest rates have now been dropped to just above 0%, close to levels for official short-term rates in other major markets, all aimed at lifting investment and economic activity.
