Following the withdrawal from my super fund today in the amount of $500,000, I herewith chose to rollover funds back from my accumulation fund to my retirement pension balance today.

The amount that I wish to rollover is the amount of $370,000 . I wish to continue my account based pension – which today will now have the expected calculated balance $1,314,993 (before market gains and losses are calculated) the actual allocation of the capital losses will keep me below the maximum balance to be held in super.

I understand the minimum pension payable this 2022 financial year is only 2.5% which is $32,875 or – I can withdraw up to a maximum of 10 % of the account as a regular pension – unless I choose to notify you and change the terms of my pension or withdraw a lump from the fund.

Thank You
