Subject: 3 Kolongo Cres and 7 Killara Cres CMA

Thank you for giving City and Country Realty the opportunity to appraise 3 Kolongo Crescent and 7 Killara Crescent, Mount Isa

A little about what is happening in Mount Isa which has seen an increase in activity in the sales market due to the minimal rental availability in town and the rising rental prices. We are currently experiencing a gentle rise in prices, and I predict that the market will continue increase gradually over the years instead of an instant boom, which Mount Isa previously experienced. This is because of the previous downturn, following a stock exchange style of the market, in which the Government and Banks got badly burnt from this decline. The impact spread from Mount Isa to Gladstone, up to Cairns, and saw our valuations drop by $150,000; which took us back to 2006 prices but has since improved in the last 12 months.

Presently, we still need to PRICE RIGHT to start negotiations to obtain a satisfactory sale. In this digital world that we live in, the buyers can tell what a property is worth with a simple click. Buyers can also compare multiple properties straight away before even wanting to view due to the number of photos being shared online.

Currently there are few investors in town, as they are looking for at least a 10%+ return on their money, as they are obtaining this down South – without the ups and downs our region can have.

We are also finding that with the world's economy the way it is, Buyers are needing loans with small deposits to purchase properties. As Banks were burnt heavily (having up to 10% of the total properties in Mount Isa being recovered since 2013), they are very pedantic with whom they will lend money too. Several boxes must be ticked before they will proceed with providing money and in turn, ask for a sizeable deposit from Buyers to proceed since 2017. There is activity around now and prices have risen approx. 10% since this time last year, with the lion share of that 10% having been in the last few months. As said above, I think that the increase in the future is going to be steady more so than the stock market system that we have seen in Mount Isa in the past. Too many got hurt in the last 7 years with the unexpected crash, causing landlords across the country having had their investments liquidated among other factors in this changing world. Secondly, the valuers now have the threat of a lawsuit if the valuations rise too early, however as more properties hit and sell in the market, the prices of valuations can begin to rise. Thirdly, the Government has clients across Australia who lost everything, ending up struggling with their mental health – costing the Government approx. $150,000 per annum, just to manage their health. We have also found that land valuations have been destroyed through the Department of Natural Resources and Mines – which is causing another hurdle. In your property's case, your land valuation has dropped from $415,000 in '19 to $375,000 in '20 for 3 Kolonga and $140 000 in 2019 to $75 000 in 2020-

Over the last 18 months, Mount Isa has seen some large industrial and commercial investors coming to town. Projects such as the new Bunnings store having been built on West Street( sold mid May 2022) along with serious investors purchasing the Kmart Shopping Plaza for just shy of $46 million. We saw the Woolworths building be sold for $16 million and the Barkly Hotel having been sold to West Farmers, with plans for a huge renovation in the future. The mines also have begun works on the old power station to recommission it for mines use only. All these aid in reinstating the confidence in the Northwest region.

Rents are strong at present as there is huge demand for properties creating somewhat of a housing shortage. This helps convert tenants into buyers as the fear of not being in control of their living situation motivates them to buy.

We are currently seeing an increase in Sellers' listing properties FAR more than what the market value of the property is worth with other agencies in town, then coming to us after many months on the market, wondering why their home hasn't sold. As advised above, Buyers can obtain all the property information at the click of a button- this makes it impossible for a Buyer to willingly overpay for a property. Having been overpriced in their listing, these properties then grow "stale" for the active market and our recommendation is to withdraw from advertising and then try again in a few months' time.

Listing high can now harm the listing in the electronic world that we live in. Buyers will know more about properties than the sellers as information is so accessible. City and Country will always first state the Selling price then we are happy to discuss with all sellers where they are happy to list ,some sellers are higher, and some are more than happy with the appraisal and this is why we are selling the most properties in Mount Isa (We actually study all listing with all agencies whether we get the listing or not, internal appraising and see what the actual SOLD price is ) which is mainly due to the LIST PRICE . We don't like sellers dropping off our appraisal ,we get the buyers up due to the proof that we have on the SOLD REALESTATE.COM page due to a similar property.

With the recent change of the Glencore Mount Isa mines to their roster from 4/4 to 7/7, we have seen activity stall slightly as the town gets used to the change. In typical Mount Isa fashion, the ones opposed to the change will be the loudest when complaining. This is typical of mining towns and I'm only expecting it to be a relatively small speed bump in the grand scheme of the Mount Isa market. There most likely could be some positives to come out of the 7/7 roster, namely more time for owners to work on their properties via paint, sheds, improvements etc. It will also benefit the lifestyle of locals with more time available to spend with family and making the most of our surrounds via camping, 4WD and other outback activities.

The other challenge our market is facing in the media blowing interest rate rises and inflation well out of proportion- Its more a scare mongering tactic to stop spending which is needed on the east coast where first home buyers are buying properties upwards of a million dollars and only being on modest salaries.

Buyers these days are wanting fully finished homes as finding trades and taking on renovations are too hard for most people in the busy world that we live in. Producing the deposit plus the renovation money can very difficult especially for younger buyers in this day and age. So they are opting to up their deposit to get the better, more functional home.

To summarize, City and Country are selling but it is still all about PRICE MARKETING. If you sign into www.realestate.com.au and look at what has been SOLD in the region of 4825 and compare this to your property – this is the pricing that we're experiencing in Mount Isa. At present, City and Country Realty have sold over 120 properties since 1st January 2022

Your property is unique and private. The large block, close to the highway and the heavy industrial area of Mount Isa. The large vacant industrial areas are very hard to find for rent at present, so this is making large companies buy. I would like you look at getting the external painted and the split aircons installed to get max return if selling as rentals get less as what is happening .The units and the house a great bonus to a large mining company . If this was the direction, I am happy to meet you out there to discuss so we can get a result for you.

While we were at the property we did notice a few issues:

- Exterior paint work is in poor condition and needs repainting asap
  - The carpets looking aged, best not to replace carpets but the rubber tiles work better
- Split air conditioners installed at some stage
Built-ins installed

The rates on the two lots for 2021 are as follows:

3 Kolongo Crescent - $14,119.36

I appraise for rent at $11 000 per month plus GST and OUTGOINGS

7 Killara Crescent - $3,703.12

I appraise the house at $350 a week

I appraise the units at $300 a week

There is additional lease land at the rear of the block which is a cost of app$1600 a quarter on costed to the tenant at no extra cost from the owner.

In its current condition I would appraise your property at 3 Kolonga Crescent at $900 000 with that lease hold area at the rear to give access and 7 Killara Crescent at $250 000 for the units all internally painted and $180 000 for the house and if outside had a quick paint and floor coverings were installed such as vinyl planks, I would estimate a sale around $499 000 for both.

Total 7 Killara Crescent = $430,000

Kind Regards,
