Total superannuation balance

Your client's total superannuation balance is used to determine their eligibility to make contributions, receive co-contributions, and their spouse's eligibility to claim a tax offset for spouse contributions they make. For your clients who are members of a self-managed super fund, or small APRA fund, the trustee of the fund will also use their members' total superannuation balance to determine whether the segregated assets method can be used to calculate exempt current pension income.

Bring forward arrangement

Important

- All data is based on information reported to us by your client, or their super funds, and processed through our systems.
- Decisions made with this information can have tax consequences for your client. Your clients can refer to their own records or contact their funds to obtain up-to-date information.

You are not in a bring forward arrangement.

Transfer balance cap

 Most transactions are reported to us by your super providers. There are some events you need to report to us, including any loss of super from fraud or dishonesty, bankruptcy payments and family law payment splits. You also need to report personal injury super contributions made prior to 1 July 2007. To report these to us, use the Transfer balance account event form.

 No transactions were found. If you believe this is incorrect, contact your super provider to check whether they have reported this information to us.

Current as at 26 May 2022*We currently have no concessional contributions information to display

This may be because:

- We process all contributions through our systems to ensure they are identified correctly before we display them, and this may not have happened yet
- Employer contributions may not be payable
- Contributions may not have been made yet as the employer may pay super quarterly
- The super fund (or funds) have not reported the contribution yet
- The super fund (or funds) may be a defined benefit fund, self-managed super fund or other fund that reports this information annually and does not need to report contributions until 31 October or later
- Personal details held by the fund (or funds) may be different to the information we hold. Ensure client details are up to date with both the fund and the ATO
