

My registrations

The registrations listed in the table below can assist you to run your business and meet your tax obligations. If you apply for any of these registrations in this same online session, some of your Australian business number (ABN) details will be filled into relevant screens - saving you time.

If you decide to complete these registrations at a later time, you may need to do so via other government websites.

If you begin an additional registration but decide not to proceed, select 'Cancel'. The details you entered for that registration will not be saved and you will be returned to this page.

If any of your ABN details are incorrect, you will need to update these details with the Australian Business Register (ABR).

When you have completed all of your registrations, select 'Summary/exit'.

Registration/agency	Information	Status
Australian business number (ABN) Australian Business Register (ABR)	The ABN is a unique identifying number that businesses use when dealing with other businesses and government agencies.	Submitted
AUSkey Australian Business Register (ABR)	AUSkey is a single identifier and password for login and submission of information through government online services for business.	Not available
Goods and services tax (GST) Australian Tax Office (ATO)	GST registration is required if your turnover is $75,000 or more (or $150,000 for non-profit organisations).	Submitted
Pay as you go (PAYG) withholding Australian Tax Office (ATO)	PAYG withholding registration is required if you commence to withhold payments from employees and other businesses.	Apply now
Business name Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC)	The ASIC national business name registration service allows you to register a business name in Australia.	Apply with agency

Print